Presentation of Reports

H.E. Mr Refiloe Litjoho, Chair-Rapporteur of the Intergovernmental Working Group on the Effective Implementation of the Durban Declaration and Programme of Action

Introduction:
The consequences of COVID-19, in access to food, water, medical care, employment and education are disproportionately affecting groups facing racial discrimination. The demonstrations of solidarity with George Floyd and the Black Lives Matter movement remind us that the fight against racism is a problem that concerns all of us. During demonstrations, countries were calling to heal their wounds of the past. The language on the Durban Declaration and Programme of Action (DDPA) on the past is historic since it condemns wrongs of the past in unequivocal language and has been agreed upon by the whole international community. The Durban documents make the linkages between gender, racism and poverty, as well as intersections between health, stigma, racism and racial discrimination.

The DDPA contains a series of concrete recommendations: for national action plans and public policies for better treatment of victims of racism; for tougher anti-discrimination legislation and administrative measures, for strengthening education, for improving the remedies and recourses available to victims.

Presentation of the Report:

“The Preparations for marking the twentieth anniversary of the adoption of the Durban Declaration and Programme of Action” [A/HRC/45/48].
The report is based on discussions held during the 17th session of the WG (Dec 2019).
- The DDPA continues to be reaffirmed and recognized as a comprehensive framework and solid foundation for combating racism and racial discrimination.
- Proposes to convene a one-day high-level plenary event to mark the anniversary during the high-level segment of the 76th session of the GA, in 2021.
- Recommend the Council to convene an event to mark the 20th anniversary.
- Recognizes the importance of the involve of civil society.
- The initiatives for the celebration should have high visibility, celebrate the positive developments, and address the remaining challenges.
- Encourages OHCHR to prepare public information materials that could be disseminated at various events and through UN information centres.

Racial equality and the full and effective implementation of the DDPA should be placed at the top of the international agenda.

Ms Michelle Bachelet, United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights

Presentation of oral update on systematic racism, violations of international human rights law against Africans and people of African descent by law enforcement agencies, especially those incidents that resulted in the death of George Floyd.

OHCHR continues to receive reports of police brutality and racism against people of African descent. The violations often go unpunished: often it appears that the investigation is open only when the video footage shared on social media creates public outrage. The absence of accountability and redress for racially motivated crimes committed by members of security forces against people of African descent is unacceptable. In every state where there is a Rule of Law, there must also be an oversight and absolute commitment to ending impunity.

Resolution 43/1 provides momentum to expose the root causes that have enabled systemic racial discrimination and racial discrimination to persist, and to renew our collective efforts to resolve them. Following the adoption of the Resolution, the OHCHR established the dedicated team to work towards its implementation in accordance with the established methodology. An initial examination of the prevalence, patterns and trends of the issues raised in the resolution will guide the scope of the OHCHR’s planned reporting. Important for the OHCHR to learn from the experiences of the victims of African descent and their families and communities as it is formulate its recommendations.

OHCHR began implementing the resolution before it received the resources.

Presentation of report of the High Commissioner on her activities within the framework of the International Decade for People of African Descent

As indicated in the report A/HRC/45/47, since the start of the Decade, the OHCHR has assisted in the development of national anti-racial discrimination laws and action plans. It has assisted region-wide, through engagement with the African Union, the Organization of American States, the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe, and European Union bodies. Within the UN system, it has collaborated with UNESCO, UNFPA and ECLAC, it has also coordinated the UN Network on Racism, Racial Discrimination and Protection of Minorities.

Three key regional meetings were organized, in Brasilia, Geneva and Dakar.

There is an urgent need for stronger action from States and other stakeholders.

Three main recommendations of the Report:
- National implementation of the DDPA with participation of the affected communities in drawing up national plans and policies.
- The need to finalize the modalities for the Permanent Forum.
- Genuine engagement in drawing up the planned UN Declaration of the Promotion and Full Respect of Human Rights of People of African Descent.
Interventions made on behalf of Groups of States

| Germany on behalf of the European Union | - The EU condemns all forms of racism and intolerance, as they are incompatible with the values and principles upon which the EU is founded.
- On September 18th the European Commission published a new EU anti-racism action plan for the period 2020-2025 which aims at bringing EU institutions, EU Member States, EU agencies, civil society organisations, social partners and the private sector together in order to make concrete progress towards eliminating the scourge of racism from our societies.
- The EU stands ready to discuss ways of revitalizing the work and streamlining of numerous UN mechanisms focusing on fighting racism in order to ensure our work is relevant. |
| Pakistan on behalf of Organization of Islamic Cooperation (OIC) | - OIC rejects any discrimination on basis of race, gender, creed, color and religion.
- Emphasizes the need to effectively combating defamation of religion and incitement to violence through denigration of revered religious personalities and symbols; destruction of mosques and places of worship; and marginalization of Muslim communities through State-sanctioned acts, policies and laws.
- In particular, strongly condemns burning of the Holy Quran in some European countries and republication of caricatures denigrating religious personalities and symbols. |
| Kuwait on behalf of the Arab Group | - There are racist practices that are institutionalized and systematically taken by law enforcement agencies and other senior officials that incite and promote hate speech and oppression of the Other.
- Many communities have seen an increase of discriminatory practices as well as practices that target migrants, refugees and those under occupation in spite of international covenants and legal frameworks that guarantee human rights for all without discrimination on any basis.
- The fight against racism and discrimination requires strong will and real measures to eliminate the root causes of these negative phenomena, starting with the need to sincerely and seriously implement the relevant international conventions, as well as decisively criminalize all discriminatory and racist practices and manifestations of hatred and punish the perpetrators. |
| China on behalf of a Group of Countries | - Took note of the Oral Report made by the High Commissioner for Human Rights on the implementation of Resolution 43/1, and express concern over the recent serious violations of the rights of people of African descent and other minorities in the countries concerned:
- Many members of minorities died as a result of a racial discrimination and xenophobic violence.
- Children of migrants are held in immigration detention centres of mal condition, forcibly separated from their families.
- Express deep concern over the continued violations of the rights of immigrants in offshore immigration detention centres, and failure to protect indigenous peoples rights in certain countries which is a contemporary form of racial discrimination. |

| Azerbaijan on behalf of Non-Aligned Movement (NAM) | - Human Rights Council should increase input in combating racism, racial discrimination and hate speech, and implement Resolution 43/1 of the Council.
- All parties should oppose politicizing and stigmatizing the pandemic.
- There is an urgent need to address the resurgence of contemporary forms of abhorrent racism related crimes with greater resolve and political will, in all spheres of life and in all parts of the world, including all those under foreign occupation.
- The NAM encourages the Human Rights Council, through the Intergovernmental Working Group, to finalize the elaboration of complementary standards to the International Convention on the Elimination of all Forms of Racial Discrimination.
- The NAM reiterates its position that pluralism, tolerance, dialogue and understanding of religious and cultural diversity are essential for peace and harmony.
- The NAM condemns the glorification, in any form, of the Nazi movement and neo-Nazism, including by erecting monuments and memorials and holding public demonstrations in the name of the glorification of the Nazi past.
- The NAM recognizes the potential to increase the use of the new information and communications technologies, including the Internet, especially by national educational institutions, to create educational and awareness-raising networks and programs against racism, racial discrimination, xenophobia and related intolerance, both in and out of school. |
| Norway on behalf of the Nordic and Baltic countries | - 19 years after the adoption of the Durban Declaration and Programme of Action, racist statements and negative stereotypes, attitudes and prejudices are still far too common. This is a problem in many countries, including in Nordic and Baltic countries.
- The clear call for change and action from civil society must be followed up by political action by member states. Specific and targeted measures are needed, such as national actions plans, campaigns against discrimination, combating hate speech and a hostile debate environment and developing arenas for dialogue.
- Need to strengthen co-operation to create robust and inclusive democracies that promote dialogue, freedom of expression and diversity. Our common goal is societies based on tolerance, freedom and justice. |
| Burkina Faso on behalf of the African Group | - All States should consider the 20th Anniversary commemorations as an opportunity to reiterate their support to the DDPA.
- Raising political will for implementing the DDPA remains a critical issue. African Group has established a High Level Group at the Council’s session in March with a view to tackle racism and racial discrimination wherever it occurs.
- Human Rights Council, its mechanisms and all the States have a role to play in the battle against racism. |

2 Denmark, Estonia, Finland, Iceland, Latvia, Lithuania, Sweden, Norway.
| 1. Pakistan | Expresses deep concern over the resurgence of racism, xenophobia and Islamophobia, rooted in the ideologies of exclusion and hate. |
|            | Under the garb of nationalism and in order to win votes, populist parties continue to demonize minorities, migrants and refugees. |
|            | The Council cannot remain a silent spectator as India drifts into a racially inspired communalism that entails death, destruction and indignities towards minorities and human rights defenders in Indian Occupied Jammu and Kashmir. |
| 2. Qatar   | The appearance of new and renewed patterns of racism and xenophobia linked to official policies and transborder decisions by governments are among the worst forms of racial discrimination. |
|            | The blockade and the discriminatory measures imposed on the State of Qatar and its citizens, has entered its fourth year last June. |
|            | Expresses concern about the racist and discriminatory practices that some religious and ethnic minorities have been exposed to in some countries due to the spread of the Covid-19 pandemic, calls for effective measures that enhance the values of equality in response efforts. |
| 3. India   | India regards racism and racial discrimination as the anti-thesis of everything humanity stands for- equality, justice, peace and progress. |
|            | To foster inclusive development and guarantee the respect for human rights in situations of growing mistrust and hatred climate, the framework of Durban Declaration and Programme of Action (DDPA) need to be implemented in true letter and spirit. |
|            | The 20th anniversary of DDPA, will be an opportune time to engender greater cooperation and synergy. |
| 4. Indonesia | The rise of racial discrimination, Islamophobia, xenophobia, ethnic hatred and intolerance continues to be a grave concern for Indonesia. |
|            | These problems have run in congruence with the rise of infodemics of hate speech and malignant disinformation, exacerbated by the abuse of information technology and the unhealthy manifestation of the freedom of expression. |
|            | We have to take stern action against all forms of racial violence, including against the rise of Islamophobia. We must pay closer attention to the recent anti-Islam movements in many parts of the world. |
| 5. Brazil  | We have reached the mid-term of the International Decade for People of African Descent. The long-awaited establishment of the Forum on People of African Descent would constitute a milestone. |
|            | Brazil remains open to share good practices, engage in discussions and help accelerate the implementation of international commitments. |
| 6. Armenia | Azerbaijan has portrayed itself as a country that took pride in adopting ‘multiculturalism’ as a national policy. Government of runs appalling policy and practice of racism, xenophobia and related intolerance directed specifically against presumed ethnic Armenians. |
|            | The most egregious identity-based crimes against Armenians by Azerbaijan have been recognized by the European Court of Human Rights on two different rulings. |
| 7. Bangladesh | Shares the concern of growing prejudices, hatred, and religious profiling against the Muslims in many parts of the world. |
|            | Notes with frustration increasing stigmatization and social exclusion of migrants including those in irregular situation, exacerbated during the COVID-19 pandemic. |
|            | Decades of persistent, systematic and systemic discrimination against the Rohingyas in the Northern Rakhine State of Myanmar has led to a deplorable condition which is against the values and principles of DDPA. |
|            | Myanmar should demonstrate political will in following the recommendations of DDPA and ending discriminatory actions including issuing, encouraging, condoning, and propagating hate speeches against this community, as well as bring the hate mongers to justice. |
| 8. Namibia | Aligns itself with the statements delivered on behalf of the African Group and the NAM. |
- Remains deeply concerned by the vicious forms of intolerances perpetuated especially against Africans and people of African Descent.
- We need to do better as the international community to fulfill our commitment to promote and protect human rights and fundamental freedom for all without distinction as to race, sex, language, and religion.
- Namibia strongly supports all recommended activities towards the full implementation of the DDPA, including the proposals to hold a panel discussion in Geneva and a high-level event in New York for the 20th Anniversary of the DDPA.

9. Venezuela (Bolivarian Republic of)
- The challenges faced by the people of African descent are numerous, especially in the developed countries.
- Welcomes the work of the Intergovernmental Group on the effective implementation of the DDPA and the recommendations.
- Venezuela reiterates its strong commitment to the universal principles of solidarity and non-discrimination.

10. Bahrain
- It is unfortunate that we still see an increase of forms of racial discrimination, negative stereotypes and xenophobia that limit the enjoyment of basic human rights by minorities.
- Concerned about the increasing patterns of racial discrimination, negative stereotypes and xenophobia in most Western countries.
- This urgent humanitarian issue requires immediate solution through legal frameworks and national action plans to combat racial discrimination, and adopting policies and initiatives in accordance with the basic principles of international human rights law.

11. Nepal
- Underlines the importance of active involvement of all stakeholders including the civil society and the media in consolidating common efforts.
- Concerted international efforts are needed towards full implementation of the International Decade for People of African Descent (2015-2024) as mutually reinforcing framework along with the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development.
- Many racist acts, including hurtful remarks on migrant workers, refugees and religious minorities have increased.
- Effective implementation of SDGs should continue to be our common agenda for an inclusive society.

12. Spain
- Welcomes the holding of this debate as an opportunity to exchange experiences and good practices that will help us in the implementation of legislative, administrative or other measures required to combat racism.
- Spain attaches great importance to education at all levels and all ages, including in the family, and including the human rights education, in order to eradicate racism.

13. Sudan
- Aligns itself with the statements made by the regional groups to which it belongs.
- Hoped for the greater awareness among the countries about the need to join forces, but nothing has changed, despite the pandemic.
- Racial practices have become systematic in many countries, or even laid in law in certain countries.
- Demonstrations, including following the death of George Floyd, are an example of a positive action.

14. Nigeria
- Nigeria aligns itself with the statement delivered on behalf of the African Group.
- With the seeming growing trend of racism and racial discrimination across the world, it thus appears that no meaningful progress has been achieved since the adoption of the Durban Declaration and Programme of Action (DDPA) almost two decades ago.
- We must collectively work to ensure the effective and comprehensive implementation of the Durban Declaration and Programme of Action, in order to demonstrate sincere global commitment to combatting racism, racial discrimination, xenophobia and related intolerance.
Interventions made on behalf of Observers

Israel, United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, State of Palestine, Djibouti, Democratic People’s Republic of Korea, Sierra Leone, Maldives, Greece, Cuba, Morocco, South Africa, China, Botswana, Iran (Islamic Republic of), Switzerland, United Nations Population Fund, Costa Rica, Russian Federation, Azerbaijan, Egypt, Turkey, Tunisia, Georgia, Myanmar, Chad

1. Israel
- In recent years, the world has seen an alarming resurgence of antisemitism, often called “the oldest hatred”.
- Racists and anti-Semites now have abused the COVID pandemic to spew their hatred.
- Hate speech and incitement hurt communities and individuals alike, and can lead to serious violence. They cannot be confused with free speech, and the abuse of social media platforms to spread this kind of content cannot be tolerated.
- Welcomes the positive steps taken by several social media platforms to limit the circulation of hateful content and help their users identify it.

2. United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland (UK)
- This General Debate falls on the first day of Black British History month in the UK, which seeks to recognise and celebrate the contribution of Black people in the UK.
- The Prime Minister recently announced a new Commission to look at inequality in the UK, which will review the areas of poverty, education, employment, health and the criminal justice system.
- Internationally, UK remains dedicated to participating actively in anti-racism-related UN mechanisms, with efforts focusing on the practical steps that states can take to combat racism.
- How can we meaningfully engage in conversations about racism, in order to address these challenges?

3. State of Palestine
- Racially-motivated violence should not merely be condemned. Effective concrete responses should be provided to contribute to fight systemic racism and the legacies of colonialism and apartheid.
- Since its inception, Israel, the occupying colonial power, has blatantly violated international law, disregarding the fundamental rights of the Palestinian people including their right to self-determination, in violation of Israel’s obligations under the UN charter.
- International Community should pursue international justice and accountability for human rights violations against the Palestinian people, including the crime of apartheid, by supporting a full, thorough, and comprehensive investigation by the ICC into the Situation in Palestine.

4. Djibouti

Aligns itself with statements made on behalf of the African Group, OIC and NAM.
- The violations cannot be considered as abuses or isolated acts since the number of victims of these acts continues to grow. They find their roots in impunity and reprehensible practices which tend to be repeated in an environment conducive to the persistence of racially motivated abuses. The latter are also fueled by the rise of hate speech, extremist ideologies, and incitement to hatred and racial or ethnic purity.
- Djibouti hopes for a new trend in the management of issues relating to racism and racial hatred and urges all States to respect their international commitments, making more efforts both individually and collectively.

5. Democratic People’s Republic of Korea
- Unequivocal and principled position against all forms of racism, racial discrimination and related forms of intolerance.
- Japanese government should refrain from all forms of discrimination against the DPRK’s residents in Japan, including against the General Association of Korean Residents in Japan.

6. Sierra Leone

Aligns itself with the statement delivered by the African Group.
- The 20th anniversary of the adoption of the DDPA should have high visibility to reaffirm states’ political will and commitment. Supports the call to convene two high-level events in Geneva and New York in order to celebrate positive developments and address remaining challenges.
- Calls on the Human Rights Council to develop and adopt a multiyear outreach programme for information and advocacy on the DDPA, as per the request by the UN General Assembly and proposed elements outlined in the recommendations in the 2019 report of the Group of Independent Eminent Experts.
- Pluralism, tolerance, dialogue and understanding of religious and cultural diversity are essential for peace and harmony.

7. Maldives  Aligns itself with the statement by OIC.
- What often begins as subtle expressions of dislike or intolerance can develop into institutionalized discrimination, incitement to hatred, verbal and physical abuse and, ultimately, hate crimes.
- There is an alarming increase in hate crimes and Islamophobia, including the ongoing persecution and violence against the Rohingya Muslims.
- There is an urgent need to instill the universal value of tolerance among our societies and to teach our younger generations that the misperceived notion of superiority of one group over another is truly nonexistent.
- Governments need to establish closer cooperation between authorities and risk groups.

8. Greece  Aligns itself with the EU statement.
- Greece has adopted a number of laws, policies and measures to combat both racism as a phenomenon and its expressions through racist behaviours. The National Council against Racism and Intolerance, the Ombudsman, and the Racist Violence Recording Network are among the key institutions which have been set up or tasked with addressing this scourge.
- Greece is currently elaborating its first national action plan on combating racism.
- Recognizing the central role of education in combating racism at its root, diversity has been mainstreamed as a key value of our educational system. Specialized Police Departments and Offices, as well as special prosecutors, focus on racist crimes, while communication of relevant cases to the authorities has been made easier through the use of web services and a hotline.

9. Cuba  Supports the recommendations, notably concerning the celebrations for the 20th Anniversary of the adoption of the Durban Declaration and Program of Action. Greater commitment is required on the part of all the States and the Secretariat to ensure the success.
- Cuba’s commitment to fighting the scourge of racism is embodied in its National Program.
- The situation of structural and systemic racism continues to worsen in some countries. At the international level, there has not been enough progress against racism, racial discrimination, xenophobia and other related intolerance.

10. Morocco  Racism, racial discrimination and intolerance are prohibited under the Moroccan Labour Code and the Criminal Code, among others.
- Morocco hosted the international conference on the follow-up to the Rabat Plan of Action for fighting hatred, and will host the World Conference of the Alliance of Civilizations.
- Morocco has always strived to attribute to Moroccan civil society a role of partner in the promotion of respect for human rights.

11. South Africa  In the context of growing populist and nationalist policies and the resurgence of racism and racial discrimination, the 20th Anniversary of the DDPA offers a possibility for the States to reaffirm their support and commitment.
- Calls to invite Member States, international organizations, civil society and other stakeholders to organize various initiatives to commemorate with high visibility the Anniversary, and to address the remaining challenges.

12. China  Racial discrimination and xenophobia is exacerbating in some countries. In the United States, systemic racial discrimination, police violence and social inequalities are deep-rooted. In the United Kingdom, islamophobia is prevalent. African and Asian groups face systemic discrimination in healthcare, education, employment, and justice. In Australia, a large number of migrants are detained in harsh offshore
| 13. Botswana | Aligns itself with the statements made by the African Group and the NAM.
- Welcomes the recommendations made by the Working Group, including holding the event at the General Assembly.
- The global protests against racial profile and excessive use of force is an indication that we have reached a turning point in the fight against all forms of racial discrimination. |
| 14. Iran (Islamic Republic of) | Fully supports the OIC’s statement sounding the alarm over the increasing practices of Islamophobia in European countries.
- HRC’s urgent debate that followed the killing of George Floyd showcased the human solidarity and shared concern over this blatant injustice.
- The US radical unilateralism and bellicose bullying against sovereign States are posing serious threats to international peace and security and grossly violating basic human rights of the targeted populations.
- Instrumentalization of citizenship is another manifestation of racism. |
| 15. Switzerland | - Many people around the world, particularly those of African descent, continue to face structural racism and racial discrimination.
- At the national level, Switzerland monitors its polices and prosecutes racially motivated offences. Great importance is attributed to cooperation with civil society. |
| 16. United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA) | - UNFPA is guided by the Secretary General’s vision and reiterates that the scourge of racism violates the UN Charter and debases core values.
- The empowerment of women and girls is at the core of the work of UNFPA and underpins our strategy.
- Women of African descent are more likely to die during childbirth than other cohorts of women, and they often suffer institutional discrimination in the health sector. All this, as a direct result of racial discrimination.
- Encourages Member States and the Working Group to take this dimensions into account during the upcoming 20th anniversary of the DDPA, as well as in the upcoming sessions of the Working Group. |
| 17. Costa Rica | - The International Decade for People of African Descent, together with the 2030 Agenda should be a new window of opportunities to eliminate racism and racial discrimination and ensure the effective promotion of the economic, social, cultural, civil and political rights of persons of African descent and their meaningful participation in all areas of society.
- The disparities in the social and economic model resulting from the period of slavery has led to the exclusion of people of African descent, particularly in the context of COVID19.
- In some countries, the persons of African descent disproportionately represent front-line workers or those who are more vulnerable to the virus due to lack of access to health services or pre-existing health conditions, linked to economic reasons.
- Calls on States to assume their unavoidable commitments to end disparities and ensure access for all to all rights under equal conditions. |
| 18. Russian Federation | - The ideas of ethnic superiority are becoming more attractive in certain countries, underpinning the whole fabric of government social relations, spreading intolerance.
- Political parties, including moderate ones, and associations are using these ideas. Social networks begin to spread hate speech. The authorities of a number of Western countries close their eyes to this, claiming the freedom of speech.
- The recent events in the United States, caused by the systemic racism and police brutality confirmed that the fight against contemporary forms of racism, racial discrimination, xenophobia is still the major issue on the Agenda. |
| 19. Azerbaijan | - For the last 30 years, the people of Azerbaijan, have been suffering the manifestations of ethnic and racial discrimination, as well as hate speech perpetrated by Armenian that has chosen racial superiority and hatred as its state policy. |
- Hate crimes and violent acts organized by groups of extremists belonging to Armenian diaspora across the world resulted in gross human rights violations of many Azerbaijanis.

20. Egypt
- Expresses great concern regarding the targeting of Muslims in Germany, namely the hate speech on the doors of mosques, and the attacks against Muslims. The rise of attacks on refugees and their camps. Need to hold perpetrators accountable.
- Regarding Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg, there is an increase in anti-foreign rhetoric. There are also restrictions in entrance visas, as well as the admission of Palestinian refugees, and forced deportation of some asylum seekers.
- In the United Kingdom, there is a significant increase in the rate of hate crimes in recent years.

21. Turkey
- Turks, as one of the major components of migrant communities in several European countries, are facing with xenophobia and Islamophobia.
- These trends are also fueled through online channels by abusive contents and hate speech. Emerging digital technologies cause new forms of racism, racial discrimination and xenophobia.
- Furthermore, populist politicians exacerbate these dangerous trends and tendencies by their divisive rhetoric.
- Turkey continues to urge the international community to take effective measures against these trends and make sure that the issue remains a priority on the international agenda.

22. Tunisia
- COVID-19 pandemic has demonstrated the devastating and widespread impact of racial discrimination, inequality, and racial inequalities on the lives of the most vulnerable people and groups, including people of African descent and ethnic minorities, in a large number of parts of the world, particularly with regard to access to health and social care.
- Tunisia calls upon implementing the ICERD and the DDPA in order to eliminate racial discrimination within the framework of an international approach based on solidarity and respect for universal and indivisible human rights.

23. Georgia
- Along with the Constitution of Georgia that guarantees the equal rights of all persons, the Anti-discrimination Law adopted in 2014 aims to eliminate all forms of discrimination.
- To effectively respond to human rights protection challenges, number of measures are implemented at the national level, including training of the law enforcement professionals, special training program created in cooperation with the OSCE ODIHR on investigation of crimes based on discrimination, and tightening liability for discrimination-related crimes.
- In the Russia-occupied Abkhazia and Tskhinvali regions of Georgia against the backdrop of ethnic discrimination, the local population is deprived of minimal safeguards for their lives. Discrimination on the ethnic grounds has become more worrisome during COVID-19 outbreak.

24. Myanmar
- A stronger multilateralism and international cooperation is very much imperative, instead of politicization and polarization.
- Myanmar is a multi-ethnic and multi religious country where more than 100 ethnic groups live together in peace and harmony. Myanmar always respects the provisions stipulated in the DDPA as well as other UN declarations. Myanmar categorically rejects the baseless accusations of the delegation who is hijacking this platform to pursue their political agenda.
- The growing concern is the misuse of online platform to foment division and incite offline violence. Myanmar has always been against the use of any sort of hate speech and takes various measures to prevent hate speech and fake news.

25. Chad
- Aligns itself with the statements made by the Groups it belongs to.
- Commends the aim foreseen by the Program of Activities of strengthening national, regional and international action and cooperation for the full enjoyment of economic, social, cultural, civil and political rights by people of African descent.
- Welcomes the summaries of constructive debates resulting from the 17th Session of the IGWG on the celebration of the 20th anniversary.
- Strongly supports the celebration of the 20th anniversary, and the mandate of the Special Committee to draft the Complementary Standards.

| 8. International Federation for the Protection of the Rights of Ethnic, Religious, Linguistic & Other Minorities | - Regrettably the Programme of Activities of the Decade has not, yet in the sixth year of the Decade, been published by the OHCHR.
- This situation led the IGWG on the DDPA at its latest session to request the OHCHR to publish in an easily accessible brochure form the Programme of Activities for the Decade for wide dissemination. The response by the OHCHR has been that they will do so when the request is included in a Council resolution. Regrettably this request made by states at the IGWG is not included in any of the draft resolutions for this session of the Council. |
